

Information sheet pursuant to Art. 13 of the General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR) regarding video surveillance

Information on the rights of data subjects

The data subject shall have the right to obtain confirmation from the person responsible as to whether personal data concerning him or her is being processed; if this is the case, he or she shall have the right of access to this personal data and to the information specified in Article 15 of the GDPR.

The data subject has the right to obtain from the person responsible the rectification of inaccurate personal data concerning him or her without undue delay and, where applicable, the updating of incomplete personal data (Article 16 of the GDPR).

The data subject has the right to request the person responsible to delete personal data relating to him or her without undue delay, provided that one of the grounds listed in Article 17 of the GDPR applies, e.g. if the data is no longer necessary for the purposes for which it was collected (right to erasure).

The data subject has the right to obtain from the responsible party the restriction of processing if one of the conditions listed in Article 18 of the GDPR is met, e.g. if the data subject has objected to the processing, for the duration of the review by the responsible party.

The data subject shall have the right to object at any time, on grounds relating to his or her particular situation, to the processing of personal data concerning him or her. The controller shall then no longer process the personal data unless it can demonstrate compelling legitimate grounds for the processing which override the interests, rights and freedoms of the data subject, or for the establishment, exercise or defence of legal claims (Article 21 of the GDPR).

Without prejudice to any other administrative or judicial remedy, every data subject shall have the right to lodge a complaint with a supervisory authority if the data subject considers that the processing of personal data relating to him or her infringes the GDPR (Article 77 GDPR). The data subject may assert this right before a supervisory authority in the Member State of his or her place of residence, place of work or place of the alleged infringement. The competent supervisory authority in North Rhine-Westphalia is the State Commissioner for Data Protection and Freedom of Information of North Rhine-Westphalia.